

No amusements of any kind interfere with the careful reading of the morning paper. It is read in the morning hours when the mind is clear and in a receptive mood.

THE WASHINGTON HERALD

Go to Church
You Will Find the Announcements of the Services of Washington's Leading Churches on Page 7 Today.

NO. 3522.

WEATHER: THUNDERSHOWERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 1916.

ONE CENT.

RUSSIANS BEGIN GREAT DRIVE IN PRIPET MARSHES

Launch Supreme Effort to Get Wedge Between German and Austrian Armies.

2,000,000 MEN ENGAGED

Attack Said to Equal Ferocity of Von Mackensen Drive Last Year.

(By the International News Service.) Petrograd, June 9.—With nearly 50,000 prisoners in their hands, taken in less than a week, the Russians are advancing all along the line in Volhynia, Galicia and Bukowina. The greatest pressure is being exerted against the Austro-Hungarian frontiers where the Russians have occupied the fortress of Luck, crossed the Stry River and are pressing the Germans in a southwestern direction in utter rout. Gen. Drusloff, the Russian commander, is evidently driving a wedge between the Austro-Hungarian and German armies where they join near the Pripet marshes. With this enterprise successfully carried out, the Russians could drive southward toward the triangle formed by Jaroslavl, Przemyśl and Lemberg, probably compelling the Austro-Hungarians to evacuate Vladimir, Volynsk and Lemberg.

Two Million Fighting. Nearly 2,000,000 soldiers are engaged in the great battle, which is considered to be in only its initial stage.

Great masses of artillery have been concentrated all along the line by the Russians and the bombardment of the Austro-Hungarian positions equals in violence the big gun attacks against the Russian lines when Von Mackensen began his offensive last year.

The fighting is particularly intense around the fortress of Dubno, where the Austro-Hungarians have made a desperate effort to prevent the Russians from advancing along the Rovno-Lemberg railway.

Further south the Russians, after capturing important Austrian works, are now advancing toward the Strya, with the object of forcing a crossing.

At some points the Russians have advanced more than twenty-five miles since they opened their offensive. The Austro-Hungarian losses have been so enormous that the troops are demoralized.

Jap Vessel Foundered. Nagasaki, Japan, June 9.—The Japanese steamer Oyo Maru has foundered with heavy loss of life. Only twenty-one seamen were saved.

If You Are Not A Regular Subscriber

—place your order right now for a copy of

Tomorrow's Sunday ONE CENT HERALD

—with your news dealer or at The HERALD office (M. 3300). The ONE CENT SUNDAY HERALD contains all the news and a duplicate for practically every feature of either of the Washington Sunday newspapers selling for five cents.

—Comic Section.
—Dramatic Section.
—Sporting Section.
—Society Section.
—Fraternal and Club News.
—And All the News of All the World.

FOR ONE CENT

—Delivered to Your Door.
—HERALDS always sell out FIRST.

The Washington Herald Will Receive Donations For Preparedness Parade Fund

Here is an opportunity for you to aid in making Washington's preparedness parade June 14 the biggest and most spectacular yet staged by any city.

Fill out the blank below and mail it to The Preparedness Editor, The Washington Herald, together with your contribution, and the donation will be acknowledged and forwarded promptly to Rudolph Kauffmann, treasurer of the committee in charge:

I, .....

of .....

enclose $..... to help defray the expenses of Washington's preparedness parade.

TOTALS OF FIRST BALLOTS SHOW HUGHES' STRENGTH

Special to The Washington Herald.

Chicago, June 9.—The official totals of two ballots which placed Justice Hughes within striking distance of the Presidential nomination were as follows:

First ballot—Hughes, 253½; Root, 103; Burton, 77½; Weeks, 105; du Pont, 12; Sherman, 66; Fairbanks, 74½; Cummins, 85; Roosevelt, 65; La Follette, 25; Brumbaugh, 29; Ford, 32; Knox, 36; Borah, 2; Willis, 3; McCall, 1; Taft, 14; not voting, 2½. Total, 987.

Second ballot—Hughes, 328½; Roosevelt, 81; Root, 98½; Burton, 76½; Weeks, 79; du Pont, 13; Sherman, 65; Fairbanks, 88; Cummins, 85; La Follette, 25; McCall, 1; Knox, 36; Willis, 1; Wood, 1; Harding, 1; Wanamaker, 5; not voting, 2. Total, 987.

Moose, Clamorous for T. R., Are Held in Check to Await Outcome of G. O. P. Balloting

By LAWRENCE HILLS.

(Sun News Service.)

Chicago, June 9.—A battle of strategy was fought all day by the Progressive leaders with their own convention on the one hand and the Republican convention on the other. There has been nothing like it seen in political history.

The object of this game of strategy, which George W. Perkins and his aides, most of them the personal friends of Theodore Roosevelt, played here today was:

1.—To hold the Bull Moose convention from nominating Col. Roosevelt and a third ticket pending the first balloting of the Republicans, so as to possibly afford opportunity for further conferences by the two committees, these committees having been continued by their respective conventions. This part of the plan rested on the hope that the Republicans, as a result of the fight in their own convention, would finally be swung around to take Roosevelt.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

The Moores did not want to have their convention put into a position of accepting or rejecting the actual nominee of the Republican convention should he be other than Roosevelt, adhering thus to their January statement, and to the position taken last evening by their representatives at the conference. At the same time they did not want to destroy any possible chance the Colonel might have in the convention as a candidate that would unite the parties.

To accomplish these objects with a crowd of delegates hot on nominating Col. Roosevelt required no end of skillful work. Those aware of it watched this political jockeying with intense interest.

Not until tonight was it disclosed that the plan followed during the day had been dictated by the Colonel himself. All day he had been represented by most of his friends among the Progressive leaders as merely watching developments, but tonight Gov. Johnson declared flatly that the plan followed had been Col. Roosevelt's.

Second.—To keep the delegates together so as to be able to nominate Col. Roosevelt before anybody but Roosevelt could be nominated by the Republican convention.

HUGHES FAR IN LEAD ON 1ST TWO BALLOTS CAST BY REPUBLICANS

Official Ballot Totals Give Hughes Lead of 230

THE FIRST BALLOT

State	Candidates	Fair-Roots
Alabama	Hughes 3, Root 1	1
Arizona	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Arkansas	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
California	Hughes 9, Root 6	6
Colorado	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Connecticut	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Delaware	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Florida	Hughes 8, Root 1	1
Georgia	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Idaho	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Illinois	Hughes 2, Root 20	20
Indiana	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Iowa	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Kansas	Hughes 10, Root 2	2
Kentucky	Hughes 10, Root 1	1
Louisiana	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Maine	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Maryland	Hughes 7, Root 1	1
Massachusetts	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Michigan	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Minnesota	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
Mississippi	Hughes 13, Root 1	1
Missouri	Hughes 13, Root 1	1
Montana	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Nebraska	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Nevada	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
New Hampshire	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
New Jersey	Hughes 13, Root 1	1
New Mexico	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
New York	Hughes 42, Root 43	43
North Carolina	Hughes 6, Root 9	9
North Dakota	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Ohio	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Oklahoma	Hughes 10, Root 1	1
Oregon	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Pennsylvania	Hughes 2, Root 8	8
Rhode Island	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
South Carolina	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
South Dakota	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Tennessee	Hughes 9, Root 5	5
Texas	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Utah	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Vermont	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Virginia	Hughes 8, Root 1	1
Washington	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
West Virginia	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Wisconsin	Hughes 11, Root 1	1
Wyoming	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Alaska	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Hawaii	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Philippines	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Totals	Hughes 253½, Root 103	103

Taft polled 14 in Texas on this ballot.

Weeks, 105; Burton, 77½; Sherman, 66; Fairbanks, 74½; Cummins, 85.

THE SECOND BALLOT

State	Candidates	Fair-Roots
Alabama	Hughes 9, Root 1	1
Arizona	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Arkansas	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
California	Hughes 11, Root 12	12
Colorado	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Connecticut	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Delaware	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Florida	Hughes 8, Root 1	1
Georgia	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Idaho	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Illinois	Hughes 2, Root 30	30
Indiana	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Iowa	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Kansas	Hughes 10, Root 2	2
Kentucky	Hughes 11, Root 1	1
Louisiana	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Maine	Hughes 8, Root 1	1
Maryland	Hughes 7, Root 1	1
Massachusetts	Hughes 12, Root 5	5
Michigan	Hughes 23, Root 2	2
Minnesota	Hughes 3½, Root 1	1
Mississippi	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Missouri	Hughes 22, Root 1	1
Montana	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Nebraska	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
Nevada	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
New Hampshire	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
New Jersey	Hughes 16, Root 1	1
New Mexico	Hughes 2, Root 1	1
New York	Hughes 43, Root 42	42
North Carolina	Hughes 6, Root 9	9
North Dakota	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Ohio	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Oklahoma	Hughes 10, Root 1	1
Oregon	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Pennsylvania	Hughes 8, Root 23	23
Rhode Island	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
South Carolina	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
South Dakota	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Tennessee	Hughes 8, Root 5	5
Texas	Hughes 3, Root 3	3
Utah	Hughes 5, Root 1	1
Vermont	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Virginia	Hughes 8, Root 1	1
Washington	Hughes 4, Root 1	1
West Virginia	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Wisconsin	Hughes 11, Root 1	1
Wyoming	Hughes 6, Root 1	1
Alaska	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Hawaii	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Philippines	Hughes 1, Root 1	1
Totals	Hughes 328½, Root 98½	98½

Weeks, 79; Burton, 76½; Sherman, 65; Cummins, 85.

Cadets Will Participate In Preparedness Pageant

Public School Board, After Lengthy Hearing, Overrules Opponents of Idea and Authorizes Boy Soldiers to March in Parade.

After listening to attack by peace advocates on the motives behind Washington's preparedness parade for more than two hours yesterday afternoon, the Board of Education voted to close the public schools on the day of the parade and to authorize the high school cadet regiment to march. Any cadet, however, whose parents are not in sympathy with the demonstration, will be excused, the Board ruled.

When the Board convened in the Franklin School Building at 3:45 o'clock a formidable array of protestants, including a member of Congress and several clergymen, awaited them. Henry P. Blair, president of the Board, read a letter from William F. Gude, chairman of the parade committee, asking that the school children be permitted to march. William V. Mahoney, of the Advisory Peace Council of the District, arose and assumed chairmanship of the protestants, seated opposite the Board.

The peace advocates repeatedly charged that the parade had been organized for political purposes to aid the party in power. When James Kent, one of the speakers, branched off on President Wilson's Mexican policy, John B. Lerner, a member of the Board, checked him.

Ballies Is Present.

Representative Warren Worth Bailey, of Pennsylvania, who prevented the passage of the resolution in the House making the day of the parade a legal holiday in the District, told the board that the parade was organized for political purposes.

Although the vote on the motion to

CONTINUED ON PAGE FIVE

Justice Hughes received the returns on the balloting at Chicago at his home last night.

When the official returns of the second ballot came in over the wires and later there came a flash that the convention had adjourned without a nomination, the justice went to bed.

Justice Hughes maintained his unbroken silence. His secretary, Lawrence H. Green, said Mr. Hughes had nothing to say.

The secretary added that Justice Hughes had spent the day in his library working on law cases. He said several telegrams were received during the day from "unknown persons," but that no replies were sent.

Extra Tax on Americans.

London, June 9.—It is learned from a semi-official source that the government has decided to impose an extra tax of 2 shillings per pound on all American securities owned by Americans resident in England, no matter if the securities are held here or not.

Quickest Service to Baltimore.

Baltimore and Ohio "Every Hour on the Hour," $1.50 Saturdays and Sundays; other days, $1.75 round trip—Adv.

$2.50 to Philadelphia, $2.25 to Chester, $2 Wilmington and return. Baltimore & Ohio Sunday, June 11, 7:05 a.m., returning same day.—Adv.

JURIST GIVEN 328½ VOTES WHEN SECOND POLL IS COMPLETED

Gain of 75 Made Over Strength Shown On First Ballot—Root Runs Ahead of T. R. as Second Choice.

165½ MORE NEEDED TO WIN

(By the International News Service.)

Chicago, June 9.—Col. Roosevelt was notified tonight over the long-distance telephone by one of his closest friends that in all probability he would be nominated by the Progressives tomorrow.

He replied that if this was to be it must be, and he has resigned himself to his fate.

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

(International News Service.)

Chicago, June 9.—Charles E. Hughes was far in the lead in the race for the Republican nomination at the end of the second ballot, which closed the convention tonight. He had 328½ votes, a gain of 75 over the number he received on the first ballot. Root was second with 98½. Roosevelt gained 16.

Hughes still lacks 165½ votes of the number required to give him the nomination. These, his supporters insist, he will receive when the battle is resumed tomorrow morning.

Meanwhile the conference committee from the Progressive and Republican conventions has again gone into session, in an endeavor to agree upon a candidate. Up to midnight this effort had been as fruitless as that of the night before. The Progressives restrained their impulse to nominate Roosevelt all day long.

MOOSE MAY SLIP HALTER.

Whether they can be restrained tomorrow or not even their leaders will not say.

The Hughes vote on the first and second ballots tonight was not the full strength of the Hughes candidacy. This was deliberately withheld because of a fear on the part of the Hughes people that it might end in the nomination of Hughes which would be regarded as bad faith by the Progressives. The Republicans and especially the supporters of Hughes among them, want no break with the Progressives if it can be possibly avoided.